WEEK'S BUSINESS HAS BEEN QUIET

Money is Easy, Although Hesitancy in Making Investments is Apparent.

SECURITIES IN LIGHT DEMAND.

Condition of New York Stock Market Reflected, Although Expected at This Time of Year.

The local business situation has been quiet this week. In banking, money has been easy, with the supply equal to the demand. The labor troubles have operated as a cloud on the horizon, so that a hesitancy is reported in making investments. There is a general tendency toward restriction in selling securities for which there is comparatively little demand, so that the stock market is quiet, if not posi-tively restful. This reflects conditions in the east where the New York stock exchange was never quieter, and it is remarked that conditions there exercise wide influence over the whole country. wide influence over the whole country. This condition, however, is expected at this time of year, as during the warm months activities in the commercial world are always considerably toned down. The crop prospects are not yet definitely understood, but the general feeling is a little better than heretofore chronicled. It seems certain that cotton will command a high price; but taken all together, the prospect appears to be uneventful and uncertain. wide influence over the whole country.

NOT MUCH DOING IN REALTY.

The real estate market is an instance this week, of "Nothing doing." That is, there have been no events of moment beyond the issuance of building permits for the erection of the two Newhouse structures on south Main street opposite the federal building. The excavations are practically completed, and the heavy concrete footings are being rapidly set. These are massive affairs which are the better appreciated by one's going up into the Federal building and looking over the high board fence at what is being done across the street. The J. R. Walker homestead at the southwest corner of Fourth South and Main streets is being cleared of buildings preparatory to excavation for the new hotel, the like of which, it is reported, will not be found in the entire west. The Sharp flats are approaching completion, and work on the Brunswick apartments is being factively conviced in The reality men. NOT MUCH DOING IN REALTY. on the Brunswick apartments is being actively carried on. The realty men are perfecting plans for their annual excursion to Saltair, on which occasion excursion to Saltair, on which occasion they are hoping to break all records in the matter of attendance. Dealers report that the past wet, and unsatisfactory weather has been the confidence of the sleepiness that has come upon the local market; as investors will not pay much attention to real estate matters on a rainy day, the business has waned and fallen off. But now the fine weather has returned, dealers are brightening up and reporting that the situation is improving, and that they have nothing to complain of. Lot purchasing is confined to no particular part of the city, but is being indulged in all over.

BRICK BUSINESS BRISK.

BRICK BUSINESS BRISA.

The brick men report that their hard trials and tribulation are over, and they can now supply anything on the short order style immediately, if not sooner. The Salt Lake Pressed Brick company has completed its great kiln located just east of Calder's park, so that in a few days it will be turning out 180,000 brick daily, of all kinds. As the other companies are also in prime shape to do business, it is patent that there will be no shortage this season in the brick supply. brick supply.

LUMBER ARRIVING FREELY. The lumber dealers are drawing a breath of relief as there is an ease-breath of relief as there is an easement in the car famine, and lumber is arriving freely on old orders. Dealers have been purchasing at any price to keep up their stocks, so as to be able to do business. Shingles are being received in larger quantities, so that after all, local yards are fairly well stocked with this line of goods. Lumber men are complaining of building falling off, on account of unsettled labor conditions. People insettled labor conditions. People in-tending to build are frightened at the prospects of continued advances in material and labor prices and giving up the idea of building until figures are reduced to a more natural basis.

DEMAND FOR FISHING TACKLE. The hardware trade for the week has been fairly good; but on account of the unpropitious weather, it has not been up to the expected mark by a great deal. Dealers report a steady trade in six shooters, also a strong demand for hunting outfits, and fishing tackle; and the demand for harnesses keeps the trade on the jump. ses keeps the trade on the jump continually.

NO CHANGE IN DRY GOODS. The local wholesale dry goods trade

NO CHANGE IN DRY GOODS.

The local wholesale dry goods trade reports no special changes. Long delayed ginghams are being received, particularly zephyr ginghams; and there are prospects of a further advance in print goods. Jobbers say there is an immense quantity of bunting going out, noticeably bunting of national coloration particularly for patriotic decoration. In fact, there is a steady call for light colored buntings for skirts and waists. The wholesale trade is preparing for a big fall trade. In the dress goods market it is claimed that broadcloths are in the lead, and that striped and fancy broadcloths are prime favorites. Plain worsted are in ready demand, as are also Panamas, poplins and vellings are already figuring on repeat orders. In all classes of goods the favorite color appears to be blue in a variety of shades. Browns in wines and garnet shades will be popular. Colors are to cut considerable of a figure in skirt and costume trimmings. Two shades of a general color will be followed for ornamentation, and this has brought into call a large number of shades in greens and reds. In novelties the trade reports only a moderate movement for fall.

In the retail dry goods trade, the responsible for a shortage in three months' business. But, at the same time, trade has been very fair, better than it was last yeth at the same time. The advent of warm, bright weather has brought out the women and filled than it was last yeth at the same time. The advent of warm, bright weather has brought out the women and filled the dry goods stores with customers so that a good trade is anticipated for the remainder of the season. There is a fair run on silks and dress goods. Women are buying waists, summer suits and light skirts, and the millinery departments are being fairly well patron, is a summer suits.

CLOTHING TRADE GOOD

In clothing, the wholesale trade has been good as this is not dependent upon the weather, and orders are being received in generous quantities for fail goods. The retail trade is improving with the improved weather condition, and dealers are looking for continued improvement. Serges are in good demand, and in the matter of cassimeres, thibets, medium grade woolen suitings, fancy cotton worsteds, cotton warp flannels, crashes, etc., buyers are fairly well divided. On low grade flannels, and some crashes made for the manufacturers of medium grade clothluks, orders are a little short of last sea-son. Repeat orders on some fail lines of overcoatings, and some plain aultings are reported. Straw staple suitings are reported. Straw hats are being rapidly sold, generally of the sailor pattern. A feature this season is hat bands in all of the college colors, so that local graduates will have no trouble in securing bands to suit their colegiate demands.

SHOE MEN ARE BUSY.,

SHOE MEN ARE BUSY.

The shoe men are in a more or less ecstatic frame of mind owing to the continuance of the immense trade that has been the characteristic of this year. They report the tan shoe as pulling away from the white canvas article. In fact there has been such a demand for them, that the inarket has run short, and there will be a shortage until the middle of next month. Low cut shoes are having an unprecedented run. The leather market continues very stiff, and findings are still on the advance; as for instance, laces that used to sell at 65 cents per gross, now command $1, and the end is not yet.

BUSINESS NOTES

The week witnessed an upward bound in sugar stocks that was quite reminiscent of the olden days. Brokers Cutler and Burton report decided activity in the two Idahos and Utah common, with lively bidding and with but few sales. Last week Western Idaho stood at $10.75 and is now at $11.00 bid with no sellers. The biggest jump took place in Idaho which stood $9.15 last week and is today $9.80. Utah common, which has sagged for several months jumped from $3.15 to $3.50 bld. The official publication of the call for the several stockholders meetings to the several stockholders meetings to consider the consolidation, and the notices of the regular dividends are the contributory causes. The official dividend notices of The Home Fire Insurance Co., Consolidated Wagon & Machine Co. and the Sugar City Townsite company also appear in this issue of the "News." #### TWO CARLOADS OF AUTOS ARRIVE IN SALT LAKE.

The fair weather of the past week has had a quickening influence on the automobile trade, a fact that it is duly appreciated at the premises of the Consolidated Wagon & Machine company on State street. During the week two cars of automobiles were received, one of Buicks and the other of Columbia Electrics. Inferiors by the interest in those trics. Judging by the interest in these well known machines, it will not be long before another consignment will have to be ordered. The most glowing reports continue to be received from the agricultural dis-tricts and branch establishments of the Consolidated Wagon & Machine com-pany, the beet crop especially is looming and farmers are in excellent temper in consequence. The Consolidated Wagon & Machine Co., both in Salt Lake and at all its agencies, is stocked with everything in the agricultural implement line in readiness for a season's trade that will break all records.

Doctors Mayo and Wherry wish to announce the removal of their offices from the Deseret News building to suite 122-3-4-5 Mercantile Annex, over Walker's Dry Goods Store.

The local passenger department of the San Pedro is sending a circular letter to teachers and others interested in the excursion to the annual convention of the National Educational association at Los Angeles on June 29, and detailing the various attractions connected with the excursion.

The San Pedro people propose to aid the Utah delegation all in their power to influence the association to the end of securing the next western convention for Salt Lake. The convention for 1908 is expected to go to Philadelphia, afid the following year, some middle west city. like St. Louis or Chicago, is pretty sure of the prize, but in 1916 there is no reason why the convention should not come to Salt Lake, as it will then be the regular year for one of the Pacific slope cities to be awarded the convention. letter to teachers and others interest

Some Reasons Why People Are Turning Their Attention to Local Products.

MANUFACTURERS CAREFUL.

They Are Anxious to Deserve the Support of the Community in Which They Are Established.

Two hundred years ago the sentiment n favor of home manufactures for home consumption was so strong in New Amsterdam that the town became a great place to turn out goods, and when its name was changed to New York the foundation had been laid for a center to a great nation.

A hundred and thirty years ago the ladies of the Revolution were celebrating the spirit of the Boston tea party by wearing home spun woolens rather than imported silks, and 40 years ago in Utah a man was more in fashion with a home cut suit of calico or ticking than with imported broad-cloth to the far east, where it finds a growing market.

It is now about two years since a revival of home pride in home manufactures began. The doctrine is one of

In looking over the situation here some time ago, an educator from the east remarked that he wondered how long it would take the people of Utan to arouse themselves to their brilliant opportunities. Why, said he, your elimate, your resources, and your environament and everything here tooling out a mate, your resources, and your environament, and everything here point out a wonderful future for your state, but you have got to awaken to the resources surrounding you, and make the most of them. Of course, I am an easterner and am glad to see you build us up by buying our products, but if I were a Utahan. I would build up the state by helping to develop her resources and by sustaining her industries.

Why some people still cling to the notion that a tomato grown and canned in Nebraska is better than a tomato grown and canned in Utah. Why a cucumber or an onion grown and pickied in Salt Lake, is one of those mysteries jes that even wise men can't solve.

CHEAPER AT HOME.

CHEAPER AT HOME.

A man recently planned to send $47.50 down to Chicago for groceries to save money. A friend took occa-sion to look over the list before the sion to look over the list before the money order was bought, and by questioning developed thee fact that the man who was sending to Chicago for groceries didn't know the price of a single article on his list except sugar, and when his friend finally persuaded him to give the local grocer a chance, the man of his own town, who paid the taxes, and helped to send his children to school, saved him over 10 per cent on his order besides freight.

With modern machinery and equipment to produce them, it is reasonable to suppose that homemade products would be a little cheaper in price than the imported articles. There would be at least the saving of freight which is offen quite a big part of the cost. Then, too, the labor market is steadier here, and labor disturbances are fewer than in the big cities of the east. Because of an unlimited supply of fuel, and splendid water and electrical power, the cost of manufacturing can be materially reduced and the facilities are here to make a greatmanufacturing center.

ed the canvas-covered wagons going toward the north into other states or towards the south into Mexico, without wondering why they were going? How many ever asked the young men and young women in those wagons why they were leaving the state? Those who have will know that they will generally say that they have got to get out where they can make a living. They cannot find employment in Utah, and so they are going to try the hard life of the pioneer in the wilds of some other state, or in some neighboring country.

The question of strengthening and building up our state by providing employment for the thousands of boys and girls who are growing up and who must have employment is a serious one.

WHO CAN SOLVE PROBLEM?

The physical conditions which prevail forbid the problem being solved by the agriculturalist; the facts that the mineral wealth of the state must sooner of later be exhausted will not permit the miner to solve it permanently. The manufacturer alone can solve that problem. He is the man who can always take of the raw materials—the products of the farmer, and the cattleman and sheepman—and convert them into the things people need. The manufacturing industries may ever increase. There is no end to the possibilities of their development. As the population grows, they will grow. As generation after generation arises, they will receive them and furnish them employment, which in turn will mean a happy and contented people. It will mean the developing of the talents of the young men and women. It will mean a community where people have good homes, excellent schools, fine churches. It will mean a community where people have good homes, WHO CAN SOLVE PROBLEM? excellent schools, flue churches. It will mean a community of industrious men and women as busy as bees.

PAY ROLLS THE THING.

The manufacturer sends his agents The manufacturer sends his agents into the surrounding states, and supplies their people with goods which he produces and in return bring back part of their wealth and lay it at his feet. This wealth is distributed through large, steady payrolls, and through the men who supply the raw materials. These people in turn pay it to the grocer, the clothier, the professional man, and thus it goes the rounds and benefits the whole community.

PLEA TO THE WOMEN.

PLEA TO THE WOMEN.

The business men at the head of the present systematic campaign are appealing to the people to be loyal to homemade goods. They are asking the women especially, for after all the women are the ones who really do a big share of the buying and must finally deterimine this matter, to insist on being supplied with products from Utah manufacturers, and the way that the women are taking hold of the proposition, and the loyalty they are displaying is a good omen for the future grand success of the movement.

BOARD LISTENS TO PROTESTS.

Smelter and Hospital Claim They Are Unjustly Assessed.

The county board of equalization yesterday afternoon heard the protest of the representatives of the United States Smelting, Refining & Mining company against the assessment of the net profits of the company at $500,000. It was claimed that the company has no net profits in this county at all as their smelting business here is run at a loss for the reason that it is used for securing iror for fluxing purposes in their other smelters and not for the value in the ores handled. They claim that it is cheaper to secure iron in this manner than in any other way. The matter was taken under advisement by the board and the county attorney will be asked to look into the question.

Representatives of the Holy Cross hospital were also present at the meeting and protested against any assessment upon its property. They contended that the other hospitals of the city have been exempted from taxation and hence they should not be compelled to the taxation. net profits of the company at $500,000.

city have been exempted from taxation and hence they should not be compelled to pay taxes. The supreme court in a case against the Holy Cross hospital held that it is not a charitable organization but that according to its articles of incorporation is organized for pecuniary profit. Such being the case it can not under the law be exempt from taxation. The board, however, referred the matter to the county at form axation. The board, nowever, referred the matter to the county attorney for investigation.

The last meeting of the board of equalization will be held on Monday at which time it will decide the various questions of exemption raised by the banks of the city, the hospital and the smelter.
